

Jeffrey Baron is a first-year PhD student at the University of Rochester. He is currently researching the legality of treasure-hunting excavations in medieval Iberia and the early modern Spanish Americas. He also works part-time in the Robbins Library in exchange for VIP access to the Medieval Manuscripts Collection.