

Erith Jaffe-Berg is a Professor of theatre at the department of theatre, film and digital production at the University of California at Riverside. Her research focuses on the commedia dell'arte and performances by minority groups in Early Modern Italy. She is the author of three books: The Multilingual Theatre of Commedia dell'Arte (2008), Commedia dell'Arte and the Mediterranean: Charting Journeys and Mapping "Others" (2015) and Jewish Theatre Making in Mantua, 1520-1650 (2022). She has published essays on early modern performance in various journals, including Theatre Survey, Early Theatre and The Journal of Dramatic Theatre and Criticism, among others, and in various anthologies, such as: Transnational Connections in Early Modern Theatre (2019) and the Routledge Companion to Theatre History and Historiography (2020). She is a member of the Son of Semele Theatre Ensemble (SOSE), an award-winning, LA-based theatre company (www.sonofsemele.org) and Theatre Dybbuk (www.theatredybbuk.org). For her work, she has been awarded a UCR Distinguished Teaching Award, a UC Humanities Research Institute fellowship, a Gladys Krieble Delmas Foundation grant, a National Endowment for the Humanities grant as well as a grant from the Canadian embassy.