

Zohrab Gevorgyan, PhD

Historian, medievalist, education specialist, history teaching expert. More than 15 years of pedagogical work experience. He has taught at “Ayb” school, Mkhitaryan School, Yerevan State University of Economics, Yerevan State University. He worked as a teacher support specialist at the educational foundation “Teach for Armenia”. He is adjunct lecturer at the American University of Armenia. For many years he has been working as a senior researcher at the Institute of History of NAS RA. Author of the monograph “The Armenian State of Cilicia in the Mediterranean Trade System (13-14th centuries), Yerevan 2015” and co-author of the book “The Book of teaching history: Why? How?, Yerevan 2020”, as well as the author of more than thirty scientific works, which concern the history of Cilician Armenian, medieval commercial relations, Mediterranean trade, woman history, history of everyday life etc. From January to July 2024, Fulbright visiting scholar at UCLA.