

ALICIA HERNÁNDEZ ROBLES

I hold a BA in History from the University of Murcia (Spain) (2016) and a MA in Arab and Hebrew Cultures: al-Andalus and Contemporary Arab World from the University of Granada (Spain) (2017). Currently I am a PhD candidate of medieval archaeology at the University of Murcia. My PhD research focuses on the funduq institution in al-Andalus and the Medieval Mediterranean. As part of my PhD I am teaching in the Universal Medieval History subject of the BA in History at the University of Murcia.

I am also Archaeological Supervisor and Community Manager of San Esteban archaeological site (<https://sanesteban.um.es/>), in which an Andalusian neighborhood is being excavated. As an Archaeological Technician I have participated in other excavations in Samaheej and Muharraq (Bahrain), Granada (Spain), Sicily and Sardinia (Italy).

I participate as a researcher in the projects “The origins of the Italian presence in Murcia (XII-XV centuries)” (University of Murcia) funded by the Fundación Seneca Agency of Science and Technology of the Region of Murcia and “Industry and trade in al-Andalus (XII-XV centuries)” (University of Granada) funded by the Junta de Andalucía (FEDER Andalucía Operational Program).
