

My name is Francisco Prieto-Chorro. I am 43 years old and I am from València, one of the former kingdoms of the Medieval confederacy of the Kingdom of Aragon in nowadays Spain. I am a PhD student in the department of Medieval History in the University of València, officially founded in 1499 by the Borgian Pope Alexander VI.

My field is Literacy in the Middle Ages, especially the world of rural schools in the late Middle Ages in the Kingdom of València and, besides, the informal ways by which children also learnt through their apprenticeships in the workshops.

All in all, I am passionate about Medieval History in general. I work as a History teacher in a high school located in Canals, the birthplace of the Borgia Pope Calixt III, while I am doing my research, which is being impacted, as everybody's research, by the pandemic of Covid-19.

Thank you very much for your support.

Francisco Prieto-Chorro.
