

Saber Qechai

Eötvös Loránd University – ELTE

École des Hautes Études en Sciences Sociales – EHESS

Saber@qechai.com

<https://saber.qechai.com>

ORCID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-6263-1495>

March 2023

Biography

Saber Qechai, qualified as an expert in social development, is a PhD candidate in Historical Sciences at Eötvös Loránd University (Hungary), and in Territories, Migration and Development at the School of Advanced Studies in Social Sciences (France). He had the opportunity to study in Morocco, Hungary, France and Canada, and learn about various fields, from Tourism through Cultural Heritage, Sustainable Development, to Territories and Identities. His main research interests are centered around the same fields, with a particular focus on: Cultural heritage, History of Urbanism, Cultural History and Digitized History. His main publications during his PhD studies are: Linguistic Rights of Indigenous Peoples in Canada, and Feria, an invented, recognized, and protected tradition.