

Erin Katheen Rowe is Associate Professor of History at Johns Hopkins University, specializing in the religious culture of early modern Iberia and the Iberian Atlantic. Her first book, Saint and Nation: Santiago, Teresa of Avila, and Plural Identities in Early Modern Spain, appeared in 2011. Her most monograph, Black Saints in Early Modern Global Catholicism, appeared with Cambridge University Press at the end of 2019. The book has been the recipient of the 2020 Albert C. Outler Prize by the American Society of Church History and the Ronald Bainton Prize by Sixteenth Century Society. Her research has been funded by grants from the ACLS, NEH, Council for Overseas Research Councils, and by a fellowship at the Institute for Advanced Studies.