

TaylorGF Bio

George Taylor is a “global nomad” who grew up in India and has spent eleven years living and working in West Africa (Nigeria, Mali, Niger), five years in South Asia (Nepal) and three years in South America (Bolivia). This on-the-ground experience has been complimented with short-term assignments in 30+ countries.

Mr. Taylor is a graduate of Woodstock School in Uttarakhand, India, of Wesleyan University (BA in African History) and of the SUNY College of Environmental Science & Forestry (MS in forest resource management & policy). He is currently serving on the Boards of the Center for Asian Studies (CAS) and the Center for Native American Studies (CNAIS) at CU Boulder and is a Visiting Fellow at the Colorado Water Center located at Colorado State University (CSU).