

Rebecca Wartell is an Assistant Teaching Professor in the Program in Jewish Studies at the University of Colorado, Boulder. Her research and teaching focuses on Iberian Jewish refugees in the early modern period, especially their migration paths in the sixteenth-century Mediterranean. Working primarily with Hebrew rabbinic texts, Dr. Wartell concentrates on the underrepresented experiences of Sephardic women and children, widows and orphans, in the early modern period. Since joining the faculty at CU in 2018, she has also begun researching cross-Atlantic Jewish migration in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries and the contemporary experiences of converso descendants in Latin America and the American Southwest. Rebecca is currently working on her first book-length manuscript, preliminarily titled 'Seek Refuge under the Wings of the Shekhinah': Early Modern Iberian Jewish Refugees and their Rabbis.
