

Dr. Lisa Lillie is Assistant Professor of History and director of the History program at Maryville University in St. Louis. There, she also serves as the director of Women's and Gender Studies and Maryville's Florence Study Abroad programs. Her current book project, England and the Medici Empire of Exchange, uses the boundary-crossers of the early modern world - travelers, traders, pirates, and privateers - to explore the commercial and cultural relationships which united England and Tuscany in the early modern period.
