

Mark Hoover is a doctoral student at the University of Tübingen's Faculty of Protestant Theology. He is working on purificatory washings after sexual pollution in the Mediterranean and around the Arabian Peninsula during Late Antiquity. He is in the second year of his doctoral studies. He also teaches courses in Jewish and Religious Studies for the University of Tübingen's programs in Jewish Studies and Protestant Theology.

Mr. Hoover has a Master of Divinity from Princeton Theological Seminary (2019) and a BA in Near Eastern Languages and Civilizations with a concentration in Arabic and Hebrew Studies from the University of Pennsylvania (2015).